A company with $50,000 is preparing to erect large hominy mills at Henderson.

The stringency in money matters has driven a number of large firms to the wall.

August Belmont, a leading banker in New York city, and a prominent Democrat, is dead.

A brick and tile company, with $50,000 capital stock, is being organized at Owensboro.

The Indian scare in the Northwest has about subsided and the settlers are returning to their homes.

Lexington, by special election, has voted $250,000 to indemnify the State for loss in case the capital be removed to that city.

Acorns, broken ice, turtles, leeches and diamonds are some of the articles the farmer may see on the free list in the McKinley Bill.

The Farmers' Alliance of Kansas are not so certain but what John J. Ingalls will be returned to the United States Senate from that State.

The annual report of the State Railroad Commissioners shows the mileage of roads in Kentucky to be 2,803, an increase of 321 miles for the year.

If the leading express companies in this country refuse to handle business for the lottery companies, the business of the latter is certain to go under.

The managers of the World's Fair exhibition have notified President Harrison that everything is now ready for the issuing of his proclamation fixing the dates for the opening and closing of the Exposition.

The Owensboro Inquirer says: "The dread disease known as cerebro spinal meningitis has again made its appearance on Crab Orchard creek, near Clay, Webster county. Several deaths have occurred lately from it."

The branch penitentiary has been completed. The following parties have been appointed to take charge of the institution: Gen. H. B. Lyon, of Eldyville, warden; Dr. Ormsby Gray, clerk; and Dr. J. O. Thomas, of Hopkinsville, physician.

The Hartford Herald says Major McCracken is putting up a fine depot at Fordsville, on the L., H. & W. McCrackens are enterprising men, and if they could succeed in getting control of the Owensboro and Fordsville road their line to Irvington would pay handsomely.

The Republican papers are raising a great cry about the way the Farmers' Alliance voted in the last election, saying that Republicans joined it believing it was non-political, when it turned out to be a Democratic scheme. The platform of the Alliance was published time and again and discussed by all the papers, and if a man joined it not knowing its doctrines, he has no one to blame but himself. The principles laid down in its platform were identical with the principles of Democracy if they were acted upon fairly and honestly, and a man in or out of the Alliance had the privilege of voting his convictions, as he has at all times. For a Republican to say he was gulled into the order doesn't reflect very creditably upon his intellectuality.

The discovery of Prof. Koch in regard to the cure of consumption, has now a semblance of reality. Although it was heralded in glowing terms by the press of all countries, the more thoughtful readers and men of science have been slow to believe in its certainty on account of the secrecy maintained by the great doctor about his methods, and from the fact that three years ago he had the world similarly stirred up on his discovery of the mode of destroying the cholera microbe, which failed to materialize as was expected. Now, however, it seems from the most authentic sources that there is at least a happy relief from the most terrible disease that afflicts humanity. In the way in which Prof. Koch's discoveries are received by the people we can see a great change taking place in the scientific world. Jenner never enjoyed any of the honors of his discovery of the vaccine virus for small-pox, and Harvey was ridiculed for publishing his discovery of the circulation of the blood. Cinchona bark introduced into England by Jesuits from South America, was laughed at by the medical profession and denominated Jesuit bark for years. Perhaps the loss of time in waiting for such good things to push themselves into use in spite of prejudice has caused the medical men to investigate a new theory as soon as presented, and we have now to guard against another extreme—that of overrating a method before it is fairly tested. Like the Brown-Sequard Elixir, it will take time to develop the good there is in Prof. Koch's discovery; but it is reasonable to hope that he has proven himself one of the greatest benefactors of the human race.

Advices received last night just before going to press, from the Mayor's race in Louisville, were that Tyler was elected by a small majority.

Owensboro seems to be in a bit of bad luck as regards fires. Last week the entire outfit of the street car company there was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $13,000.

The amount of improvement going on now in towns throughout Kentucky exceeds anything of the kind known in the State for years. Everywhere manufactories are going up, and there seems to be a disposition among men with capital to let out their surplus cash in enterprises that will strengthen and build up their respective towns and cities. Cloverport's business men should wake up to the necessity of urging public improvements of a character that will bring us more people and extend and build up the town. As a matter of fact it cannot be a great while before manufacturers, seeing the great advantages to be derived from the use of our natural gas, must naturally drift this way in looking out locations. The single article of fuel used in running an extensive manufacturing establishment, entails great cost. Here we have natural gas in abundance, and the price of consumption can be made so easy that men will regard it with wonder. But there are some things we should guard against in considering the matter of public improvement. In no case should we ask exorbitant prices for our vacant lands. Cloverport could well afford to give away a few acres of land adjoining the city on which to locate a manufactory. This is rather a bold assertion, but it is true nevertheless.

Smith & Buzby are not making daily trips with their wagon to Cloverport. The travel at present doesn't justify it.

Mr. Estel Sutton spent a few days in town last week. He has secured a position as bookkeeper in the office of the Standard Oil Company at Louisville.

Mr. Dolph Jones, of Big Spring, was in the city Monday. He has been making numerous trips to Green river of late where, the gossips say, he is soon to wed one of the fairest girls in all that country

Postmaster J. P. Haswell informs us that a number of letters intended for McQuady are directed to Jolly's Station, when there is no such office in the county. Persons desiring letters to go to Jolly's Station should direct them to McQuady.

The Poisonous Acids

In the blood, should be taken up and removed by the Liver and Kidneys, but these organs get out of order—fail to do their work and the result is Rheumatism. There are a thousand remedies for the Liver and Kidneys, but there is only one cure for Rheumatism, and that is Dr. Drummond's Lightning Remedy. A large bottle may be had at the druggists, or will be sent by express to any address on receipt of $5. That is the price of a cure, and any one who is having an argument with the Rheumatism, will feel fully repaid by the first dose. Drummond Medicine Co., 48-50 Maiden Lane, New York.

The Rock Gas Company has erected a derrick for drilling another well. The last well run the pressure up in the line considerably.

Messrs Woolfolk and Richardson delighted a number of their friends by an invatation to a most elegant dinner on Thanksgiving

Elvice Wimp returned Friday from a business trip to New Orleans. He took down a lot of mules and reports the market there very dull.

Sheriff S. P. Woolfolk moved on the west hill last week into A. Ditto's property. Mr. Gus Harris is occupyihg the house vacated by Mr. Woolfolk.

About fifty business men, of Louisville, were down last Thursday to see the salt plant of the Louisville Salt Company. This plant is now running regularly and making salt.

Mr. E. H. Shellman was in Louisville last week. It is rumored that Mr. Shellman will become a citizen of Louisville. Should he do so our town will lose an enterprising citizen.

The farmers back of town are very much alarmed over a disease that is among their horses. Mr. Geo. Dugan lost two and Lou Board one very suddenly from it.

Joseph Denunzio's book-keeper, of Louisville, was here last week prospecting for a fruit farm. Denunzio is the largest fruit dealer in Louisville, and handles a great many apples from this county every year.

Wash L. Coleman bought of Dr. J. M. Hardin 500 grape roots to put out a vineyard. He is hitting in the right direction, as there is nothing that you can invest your money in this county that pays so well as fruit.

The trains on the L. St. L. & T. R. R. no longer stops at the Salt Works station on Squire Ditto's place. This is regretted very much by the people in that neighborhood, as it is now the time of year when that station is most convenient for them.

Mr. H. C. Woodson bought all the property of the firm of J. W. Richardson, including storeroom, ware houses and lots, for $2500, about one-fourth the cost of the large store building. Mr. Woodson moved his stock of hardware into the building last week.

No fish story. Mr. Nick Hilt, near Guston, in about 10 days, snared 80 rabbits. In four nights he caught 45 all on his own farm save one. Says he was supplied with meat for his table and about 80 cents per day by sales for profits, besides the fun of catching them.

School Commissioner Roland O'Bryan has finished visiting the district schools and reports them as much better than last year. The percentage in attendance is double. Nine new buildings have been put up and 25 have been supplied with new desks.

The wedding of Miss Lillian Hay to Mr. John Cooper, of Louisville, took place at the Baptist church Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Before the ceremony the bride's parents gave an elegant dinner to a number of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper were the recipients of many handsome presents. They left Wednesday evening for Louisville, where they will reside at No. 1622 Floyd street.

Commendable.

All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the Cal. Fig Syrup Company. It acts gently on the kidney, liver and bowels, cleaning the system effectually, but it is not a cure-all and makes no pretensesions that every bottle will not substantiate.

The Dedication of the New Baptist Church at Irvington Last Sunday.

There were probably eight hundred people here to-day to attend the dedication services of the new Baptist church, just completed at this place. The day was not a pleasant one, by any means, the beautiful sunshine which we have been enjoying for the past ten days being shut off by the threatening clouds which hung in the sky all day. But the unpleasant state of the weather did not keep the people back. They turned out in large numbers from the hills and valleys surrounding Irvington, and from points on the railroad, both east and west of here. The Louisville, Hardinsburg & Western railroad brought in upwards of two hundred from points along that line, Glendeane, Fordsville and Hardinsburg being largely represented. By 12 o'clock the little village was all aglow with animation of both young and old, who had come in a spirit of reverence to partake of the solemn and imposing exercises of the day.

It was 11 o'clock sharp when Rev. F. H. Kerfoot, Professor of the Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, walked into the little church and opened the services. By this time the house was literally packed, there not being standing room in the isles and around the doors for the immense congregation. The house has a seating capacity for about three hundred and fifty persons, and you can have some idea of the confusion there was when nearly as many more were outside desiring to get in. But the ushers, Messrs. John Wimp and Robt. McGlothlan, tried to make every one as comfortable as they knew well how to do under the circumstances.

When all were seated that could be and quiet obtained, the choir began the services by singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." The singing was admirable and was supported by a number of good, strong voices. Miss Ella Goodson, a lady highly cultured in music, presided at the organ, and was assisted by Mr. George Harris, of Louisville, with the cornet. Much credit is due Miss Goodson, who had been some time preparing the song service for this particular occasion. I must say that the whole was admirably rendered under her skillful supervision.

The text was from Isaiah 52:1—"Awake, awake, put on thy strength, O Zion; put on thy beautiful garments, O Jerusalem." It was particularly well adapted to the occasion. Mr. Kerfoot was assisted in the services by Rev. Mr. Penrod, of Cloverport. It was 1 o'clock when the preacher finished his sermon, and he then announced to the congregation that there was another matter of vast importance to be attended to before they could be dismissed. The contractors were behind about $600 in paying for the building, and that amount had to be raised by subscription before the house could be finally dedicated to God. An hour was taken up in securing collections, when $400 was raised. This amount, with some other sums that have been pledged, will be sufficient to meet all demands against the building, I am told, when Irvington will be the proud possessor of a handsome new Baptist church. The building was put up by Mr. George Harris, of Webster, at a cost of $1,600. It is 32x55 feet, and a little beauty. The Baptist folk about Irvington feel under special obligations to Mr. Harris for the very substantial way in which he fulfilled his contract, everything about the house coming up to their entire satisfaction.

The inside work, carpets, furniture, stoves, chandeleirs, and the principal part of the funds that were expended in purchasing the organ, were all donated by private individuals. I learned that the parties who made these donations do not live in this county either, but probably did once, and out of pure love for their old home and friends, they very freely made these donations. The articles mentioned are all of excellent quality and add much to the beauty and excellence of the interior of the church. A handsome Bible and a solid silver service was the gift of Miss Sallie Harris, of Louisville.

The ground on which the church stands was donated by Messrs. Robt. M. Jolly and Edgard Bennett. Besides furnishing the ground, these two enterprising gentlemen donated liberally of their private funds toward aiding in paying for the house, and lent much of their time and influence in helping the project along in other respects. The church was commenced about three months ago, and as it stands, completed in all the modern equipments of such edifices, is a handsome ornament to the town and a commendable and imposing structure to the sound judgment and Christian spirit of its founders. May those who have it in charge keep it sacred and pure in the service of Him to whose use it has been dedicated. May the evil influences which have heretofore had a tendency to contaminate the society of this country village be a thing of the past. May the staid old inhabitants who have long worshiped among these hills and valleys find renewed joy in this their new abiding place, and deport themselves after that manner in which others, seeing their good works, may follow them.

When one sees a certain young man having a long and close commune with a certain young lady's father, near a certain business shop, it is certainly a certain sign of a partnership business with somebody.

The stockholders of the Gold Fortune Gas Company held a meeting Monday and elected the following Board of Directors: H. A. Oelze, C. B. Skillman, C. W. Moorman, D. Hambleton, F. N. D'Huy, J. T. Skillman, R. B. Pierce and Chas. Tinius. The directors elected F. N. D'Huy, President, C. B. Skillman, Secretary, and H. A. Oelze, Treasurer. This company is supplying the Cloverport Pipe Line with all of its gas, for which it receives 50 per cent. of the receipts. The Bullitt well, the first one sunk by this company, has been abandoned.

The following party from this city attended the dedication services at Irvington Sunday. Mr. A. B. Skillman and wife, Mr. Alfred Olze and wife, Rev. W. K. Penrod, Mr. P. S. Miller, and Miss Sallie Moorman, Mrs. Eugene Haynes. Misses Lula and Susie Sawyer, Jennie Keith, Bettie Harrington. Messrs. Harry Roth, J. M. Barnes, Jesse Miller, Clarence Keith and Samuel Conrad. They reported a most enjoyable day.

Catarrh

Is a constitutional and not a local disease, and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and effects a permanent cure. Thousands of people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh when other preparations had failed.

Catarrh

"I will say I have been troubled for several years with that terribly disagreeable disease, catarrh. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla with the very best results. It cured me of that continual dropping in my throat, and stuffed up feeling. It has also helped my mother, who has taken it for run down state of health and kidney trouble." Mrs. S. D. Heath, Putnam, Conn.

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh with very satisfactory results. I have received more permanent benefit from it than from any other remedy I have ever tried." M. E. Read, of A. Read & Son, Wauseon, O.
